While most educators see the value in social-emotional learning, many schools do not have a systematic, comprehensive, developmental approach to these essential skills. These social emotional skills are one of the foundations for high performing students and classrooms.

What are the benefits of the EQE?

Teachers who include SEL in their classrooms report a more effective learning environment, better problem-solving skills, and stronger interpersonal connections – and they end up having more time to pursue all their instructional goals.

While most teachers see the value in teaching their students to effectively understand and manage emotions, few teachers have experienced this kind of learning themselves. As a result, even very experienced teachers have a limited number of strategies and techniques to systematically teach social and emotional skills.

An effective SEL program includes:

- A developmental, research-based curriculum for teaching the skills
- Processes for integrating the skills and concepts into the classroom
- Methods for making the SEL vocabulary and skills part of the school culture

The EQ Educator is unique in its blend of depth, practicality, and global community (in 150+ countries). The content is based on 50 years of real-world teaching experience and the Self-Science process featured as a model in Daniel Goleman's 1995 bestseller, Emotional Intelligence.

Through EQE you will

- Confidently implement Self-Science lessons in the classroom
- Apply the Self-Science process and model in your day-to-day interactions with students and in your current curriculum and lessons
- Effectively communicate the value of SEL to parents and other educators
- Continue to develop your own social and emotional intelligence

"...the Self Science curriculum stands as a model for the teaching of emotional intelligence."

- Daniel Goleman

Emotional Intelligence is being smarter with feelings

"This course provided ample opportunities and materials to help me integrate the Six Seconds and EQ principles into my classroom, my advisory, and my overall philosophy of teaching. I will be grateful to the leaders and the program for the rest of my career."

- Rod Jacobsen, English Teacher and Global Citizenship coordinator, The Thacher School, Ojai, California

Who should attend?

EQE is designed for all educators including teachers, SEL coordinators, counselors, administrators, district representatives and leaders, afterschool programs, homeschool parents, school support staff– and is well suited to all parents who will be allies in growing SEL in the school.

Certification requirements

The certification process is intended for professional educators. To complete the certification process, participants must complete online pre-work, attend the full program, demonstrate competence with the methods and tools, and follow the terms of certification – please see: 6sec.org/certlicense

Please note the annual renewal requirements, including 12 ACE units. For details on renewal, see 6sec.org/kb/ace

"Excellent 'hands-on', experimental course to improve your EQ and that of people you impact. Must-do workshop for all leaders as the journey begins from the top."

Sarojini Rao, Principal, Indus Int'l School, Bangalore, India

What is covered in EQE?

- Neuroscience of Learning and Emotion a basic understanding of the current science supports teachers to ensure that their implementation will be effective.
- The Six Seconds Model of Emotional Intelligence – an action-oriented process for using emotional intelligence, this learnable, measurable set of competencies is at the core of the program.
- Principles of Self-Science an understanding of the program's curriculum design, lesson structure, and scope and sequence creates a framework for implementation.
- The EQ Classroom tools for classroom management, social problem-solving, and facilitation supports educators to create an optimal learning environment.

- Measuring EQ a review of methods and tools for assessing program and individual success.
- SEL Implementation practical experience with key skills demonstrates participants' competence, and supports them to take next steps.
- Post-program Coaching & Practicum small groups follow up on the training through coaching pods to track their progress and increase the transfer from training to action. To earn certification, participants complete a "practicum" project implementing the tools from the course and evaluating their effectiveness.

On completion, participants earn certification to use the Self-Science curriculum, a highly effective process for facilitating social-emotional learning.

The Collaborative for Academic, Social, and Emotional Learning (CASEL) conducts and evaluates SEL research. Six Seconds assessments are recognized in the CASEL Assessment Guide. For more information: https://measuringsel.casel.org/access-assessment-guide/
